Declare that I have read and understood the conditions regarding the formatting (styling) and the linguistic and typographical editing of articles submitted to the journal Aleph. Médias, langues & sociétés.

I freely and voluntarily choose one of the following options:

☐ I hereby authorize the journal Aleph to select a professional service provider for the formatting and linguistic/typographical editing of my article. I accept full responsibility for the related costs.

☐ I choose to personally carry out the formatting (styling) and the linguistic and typographical editing of my article, in accordance with the journal's editorial standards.

☐ I choose a service provider of my own to handle the formatting and linguistic/typographical editing of my article. I take full responsibility for ensuring that their work complies with the journal's editorial requirements.

Author of the article titled:
and contributor to the journal Aleph. Médias, langues & sociétés, hereby declare:

1. Retention of Rights
   I retain full ownership of the moral and economic rights of my article.
   I grant Aleph. Médias, langues & sociétés only a non-exclusive, free, worldwide, and irrevocable right to reproduce, distribute, translate, and make the article publicly available in all formats and media, whether existing or future (including digital), within the framework of open access publishing.
2. Author Attribution
   My name must always be associated with the article, regardless of the format or platform.
   Any substantial modifications require my prior approval.
3. Originality Guarantee
   I certify that the article is original and unpublished, except where explicitly stated, with proper citations.
   I have referenced all sources in accordance with academic standards.
4. Use of AI
   I confirm that the article was not generated by artificial intelligence. If AI was used, I take full responsibility for its use and have indicated this clearly.
5. Reuse of Previous Content
   I certify that the article does not include substantial parts of my previous publications unless explicitly mentioned. If applicable, a note must precede the article to clarify the reuse and remove its claim of originality.
6. Compliance with Rights and Laws
   I guarantee that the content does not infringe upon any third-party rights, nor does it contain defamatory, confidential, or unlawful material.
7. Indemnity
   I agree to indemnify the journal and its publisher against any claims or legal actions arising from the content of my article.
8. Editorial Corrections
   The journal may make stylistic corrections (spelling, grammar, typography) without prior consultation, only when required by publication deadlines, and without altering the substance of the article.

9. Confidentiality
   Any unauthorized use of article data by third parties involved in the journal's management may result in legal action.
10. Financial Terms
    Publication in Aleph is entirely free of charge.
    Formatting, language, and typographic editing fees are the responsibility of the author only if the author explicitly authorizes the journal to outsource these services.
    No fees may be requested before or after publication without the author's explicit mandate.
