An international, peer-reviewed, and specialized journal published by Abou El Kacem Saadallah University – Algiers 2.

Author Guidelines

1.Article Submission:

Authors interested in publishing their original research articles are invited to consult the Instructions for Authors and the Author Guidelines, both available on the page dedicated to the Journal of Studies in Educational Sciences on the Algerian Scientific Journals Platform (ASJP), via the following link:

https://asjp.cerist.dz/en/PresentationRevue/216

To submit an article for consideration, authors should click on the "Submit Article" option found in the menu on the left side of the journal's ASJP page.

If the author already has a username and password to access the journal's ASJP space, they should click on "Login". If not, they must register by clicking on "Register".

Note: Registration and login are mandatory to submit and track the progress of the article through the platform.

2. Article Preparation:

To expedite the publication process, authors are encouraged to download the official article template that meets the journal's publishing requirements (RC_Template_Ar.doc). The template is available from the journal's page under the "Instructions for Authors" section on the ASJP platform.

3. Author Guidelines:

Authors are strongly advised to read and carefully follow all guidelines provided. • The Editor-in-Chief reserves the right to reject any article that does not comply with these rules.

4. Article Evaluation Process:

In the first step, the article is reviewed anonymously—author name(s) are removed—by the journal's internal editorial office, which meets regularly to assess the authors' compliance with publication rules and the relevance of the submitted work to the journal's field of specialization. If the article does not receive a favorable initial assessment from the editors, it will be returned to the author along with comments and suggestions. The author may resubmit the revised article after addressing the reviewers' recommendations.

In the second step, if the article complies with the journal's guidelines and falls within its scope, it is deemed eligible for evaluation. The anonymized article is then subjected to double-blind peer review by editors, each of whom forwards it to two reviewers from their own network. Reviewers must complete a standardized evaluation form. Editors may also choose to evaluate the article themselves. The journal's editorial office ensures coordination between the authors and the assigned editors.

If the article receives one positive and one negative review, it will be sent to a third reviewer—either national or international—whose decision will be final. In the case of conditional acceptance, the author must revise the article according to the reviewers' comments within one month.

Upon acceptance, the submitted manuscript must be accompanied by a Copyright Transfer Agreement, which can be downloaded from the journal's ASJP page. This form is included in a compressed folder available under the "Instructions for Authors" section.

5. Review Timeframe:

The minimum review period is 20 days. However, the process may take longer—on average between two and three months—depending on the volume and complexity of submissions.
