Journal description

Journal Nawah scientific (JNS), is an academic revue published by faculty of economics, business and management and sciences ,Mascara, Algeria. It is a peer-reviewed and open access review. It is biannual and published in three languages: English, Arabic and French.

The journal provides an interdisciplinary platform for scholars, researchers, and practitioners to disseminate high-quality research that contributes to the understanding of contemporary economic challenges and managerial practices at the local, regional, and global levels.

The (JNS) publishes original research articles, review papers, case studies, and policy-oriented analyses covering diverse domains of economics, including but not limited to microeconomics, macroeconomics, econometrics, development economics, financial economics, international economics, public economics, digital economy, and sustainable development. In addition, it welcomes contributions in business and management fields such as strategic management, marketing, finance, accounting, entrepreneurship, human resource management, innovation, governance, and operations management.

Particular attention is given to empirical studies, quantitative and qualitative methodologies, and interdisciplinary approaches that link economics with emerging fields such as digital transformation, artificial intelligence, blockchain, big data, and environmental economics. The journal also encourages research focused on developing and emerging economies, policy implications, and evidence-based decision-making.

Publication Guidelines

- The first page of the paper must include the full title of the paper, the name(s) of the author(s), academic rank, affiliated institution, and email address in both Arabic and English.
