Editorial of The Issue

The Algerian Journal of Legal and Political Sciences seeks to support scientific research by publishing sound scientific studies that adhere to the methodology of sound scientific research, in order to achieve its goals of making the journal a scientific reference and a space for the exchange of ideas and scientific experiences between professors and specialized researchers, while maintaining its leading position in the legal and political field.

The Journal is pleased to announce the release of Volume 63 - Issue Two - and to present to its readers a collection of valuable and high-quality articles and research in the various disciplines covered by the magazine.

On this occasion, we would like to express our sincere gratitude to everyone who contributed to the publication of this issue. We particularly appreciate the tireless efforts of the editorial team, whose dedication has been instrumental in ensuring the continuity of this journal and its ongoing pursuit of excellence and leadership. We are confident that our collective fruitful cooperation is the path to achieving the highest levels of success, and that, with God's help and guidance, our journal will remain worthy of the trust of its esteemed readers, a reliable scholarly platform and a leading forum for communication among researchers and students of knowledge.

God is the Granter of success
